Quilt Construction:

1. Cut a square of the prairie print 20 ½" x 20 ½" to be used as the quilt center. Set the remainder aside for your quilt back. Set aside the sagebrush print for the binding.
2. Cut 2 strips of green leather, each measuring 2 ½" x 20 ½". Cut 2 strips of green leather, each measuring 2 ½" x 24 ½". These will be the inside border strips. Cut 2 strips of green leather, each measuring 2 ½" x 36 ½". Cut 2 strips of green leather, each measuring 2 ½" x 40 ½". These will be the outside border strips.
3. Cut 4 brown buffalo squares, each 6 ½" x 6 ½" for the corner squares.
4. From the remainder of your fabric prints, cut out an assortment of 6 ½" squares, 16 total.
5. Sew a 20 ½" green leather strip to the left side of your quilt center, and one to the right. Follow with a 24 ½" strip to the top and one to the bottom.
6. Sew four of the 6 ½" squares together to form a strip unit. Make a second strip just as you did the first. Vary the fabrics so that no two prints / colors are next to each other. Make a third and fourth strip as you did the first two, but add a brown buffalo square to each of the ends of the third and fourth strips.
7. Sew one of the 4 patch strips to the left of your quilt top, and one to the right. Follow with a 6 patch strip to the top of the quilt top and the remaining 6 patch to the bottom.
8. Sew a 36 ½" green leather strip to the left side of your quilt center, and one to the right. Follow with a 40 ½" strip to the top and one to the bottom.
9. Sandwich your quilt top with batting and backing and quilt as desired. Cut your binding strips from the sagebrush fabric and bind per your favorite method.
